

Hello,

I am interested in serving in one of the TALE At-Large Director positions (or any position on TALE) so I may be able to expand my experience with TALE as a whole. I am currently serving as a 7th-8th grade ELA teacher at Christian Life Preparatory School, but you will see that my resume reflects expansive experience in public school, private schools, homeschool co-op, and homeschooling as well.

Although I received my first teaching certificate in 1997, I recently went back to school to complete my Masters in Curriculum and Instruction and received my Reading Specialist Certification as well as my Master Reading Teacher Certification this year. My vision, if elected, will be to continue to expand TALE membership with an ongoing regular focus on a higher social media platform that encourages teachers and Texans to participate in responses. Perhaps a few contests might inspire discussion? There is such a wealth of resources available to members through TALE and the fee is just so reasonable!

Again, I am more than happy to serve in any way TALE needs me, and I appreciate the opportunity to expand and enhance literacy for all of Texas. I have two reference letters from Administration at the school I am currently teaching at, but unsure if it would be best to have them forwarded to this address or have Administration send them directly? Please feel free to reply via email or call 817-875-4131.

Thank you,
Angela Moore

To Whom It May Concern:

It is my pleasure to recommend Angela Moore to the board of the Texas Association for Literacy Education. Mrs. Moore has been on our staff at Christian Life Preparatory School since 2016 and has been a wonderful asset to our faculty. Mrs. Moore has developed a rigorous curriculum and scope and sequence for our middle school English department including excellent composition and literature programs. Our school is highly rigorous, with students performing in the 75th percentile or above on standardized testing. Mrs. Moore is a vital part of that success.

Mrs. Moore has a passion for literacy. She has advocated for excellent literature in the classroom and for programs outside of the classroom that will promote a lifelong love of reading in her students. She has been a true leader amongst our staff, providing excellent feedback and collaboration in our professional learning community including teaching several peer groups through skills in Executive Functioning Skills.

As an educator, Mrs. Moore has developed an amazing rapport with her students and their parents. She is an excellent communicator and advocate for the needs of her students.

Due to her excellence in her field and her recent Master's degree, she has been appointed to an elite group of specialists at our school to review the scope and sequence and literature selections for the whole school, grades K-12, next year.

I believe Angela Moore would be an asset on your board.

Sincerely,

Amy E. Hay, M.Ed.

To Whom It May Concern:

I would like to recommend Angela Moore for the Texas Association for Literacy Education Board of Directors. I have worked with Angela for the last 3 years at Christian Life Preparatory School. In her role at Christian Life Preparatory School, Angela has proven to be a problem solver and a great asset to developing our English department. She has shown an ability to efficiently develop curriculum that reaches a broad range of learning styles and abilities. Her passion for literature is apparent to her students and infectious. Angela is extremely organized, can work independently and is able to effectively multi-task to ensure that all projects are completed in a timely manner.

Additionally, I have had the privilege of getting to know Angela on a personal basis. While working together on curriculum and classes I have come to appreciate Angela's honesty, work ethic and sense of humor. I truly believe she would be an asset to your organization.

Yours truly,

Dr. Tracy Munk-Martin
